download. This premier annual International Journal of Advances in Nutrition and Dietetics recognizes outstanding contributions to the field of nutrition and dietetics. It provides a forum for the submission of original, peer-reviewed papers by researchers from around the world as well as other field-defining publications. This is the only annual international journal of its kind publishing annually as its lead journal, with the mission of providing a portal for nutrition-related research. The Journal encourages the publication of research in many diverse fields, and publishes editorial coverage and special issues on all aspects of nutritional sciences. Leading international scholars are invited to submit a research paper on any topic in nutritional science. Papers will be indexed in leading databases and SCOPUS. They are accepted in several categories (general, special, original etc.). Leading researchers and young scholars are invited to submit a research paper and become involved in the future publication and maintenance of the Journal. Recent Advances in Surgery, is a general surgery journal. Its purpose is to provide a forum for the presentation and discussion of clinical and basic surgical science and medicine in the field of general surgery. The Journal also promotes ongoing scientific exchange and cooperation among surgeons in Europe and North America. Recent Advances in Surgery, is published by the European Association for Recent Advances in Surgery (EARS). The EARS is a section of the European Association for Urology. It represents the surgical divisions of all five continents. The EARS is the only publisher of this journal. The official languages of the EARS are English and German. The Editor-in-Chief is Dr. Carl Spitz from Germany, and the Executive Editor is Dr. Jean - Paul Burgers from The Netherlands. Dr. Gaston is the President of the EARS and the Editor of the European Journal of Gastrointestinal and Hepatobiliary Surgery (EJGHBS).
